High school artists are showing off their work at the Greenwood Public Library.

The Greater Greenwood Arts Council is conducting its annual High School Art Showcase through May 21.

Teachers from Center Grove, Perry Meridian, Roncalli and Whiteland Community high schools could submit up to 10 pieces of students' art work to be professionally judged.

Three winners will receive monetary awards, with the Best of Show receiving a check for $100 provided by the White River Rotary Club.

A reception to open the show will be from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. today at the library, 300 S. Meridian St.

Library visitors can view the artwork and vote for the People's Choice award. The winner of the award will be announced May 19.
